Guiding You on the Path to Performance

Guiding You on the Path to Performance

Summerland Consulting LLC provides business management and technology consulting services to performance-driven organizations in the public, private, and non-profit sectors. We can assist your organization with reaching its performance objectives. Ask yourself these questions:

Is your organization currently utilizing performance-related data in the management process?

If you answered no, Summerland Consulting LLC will assist your organization in the development and implementation of industry specific performance measures capable of capturing core performance data required for organizational decision-making.

If you answered yes, are your performance related measures aligned with organizational objectives?

Summerland Consulting LLC provides organizational assessments, process mapping, and other strategic planning services as a means of aligning measures with organizational objectives.

Do your employees understand performance management and the benefits of measuring performance?

Summerland Consulting LLC provides training and seminars focused on introducing organizations and their employees to the various components of the performance measurement process. Our core offerings include Introduction to Performance Measures and Incentivizing the Measurement Process.

Does your organization currently utilize dedicated performance measurement software to track historical performance related information?

Summerland Consulting LLC is a certified reseller of the G-TRACS® (Government Tracking, Reporting, and Accountability System) performance measurement application. G-TRACS® is a cost effective Microsoft Excel based, performance measurement, development, monitoring, and reporting solution.*

To address increasing citizen and customer demands, it is important that public, private, and non profit decision makers incorporate performance data into the decision-making process. Summerland Consulting LLC is committed to performance management. We offer a variety of performance-based solutions that can and will benefit your organization.

Contact us today and we will help you find your path to performance.
